PETROLEUM & MINERALS

Free, Accessible Petroleum Geoscience Information

To enhance understanding of New Zealand's petroleum prospectivity, New Zealand Petroleum & Minerals publicly releases data collected from petroleum exploration activities.

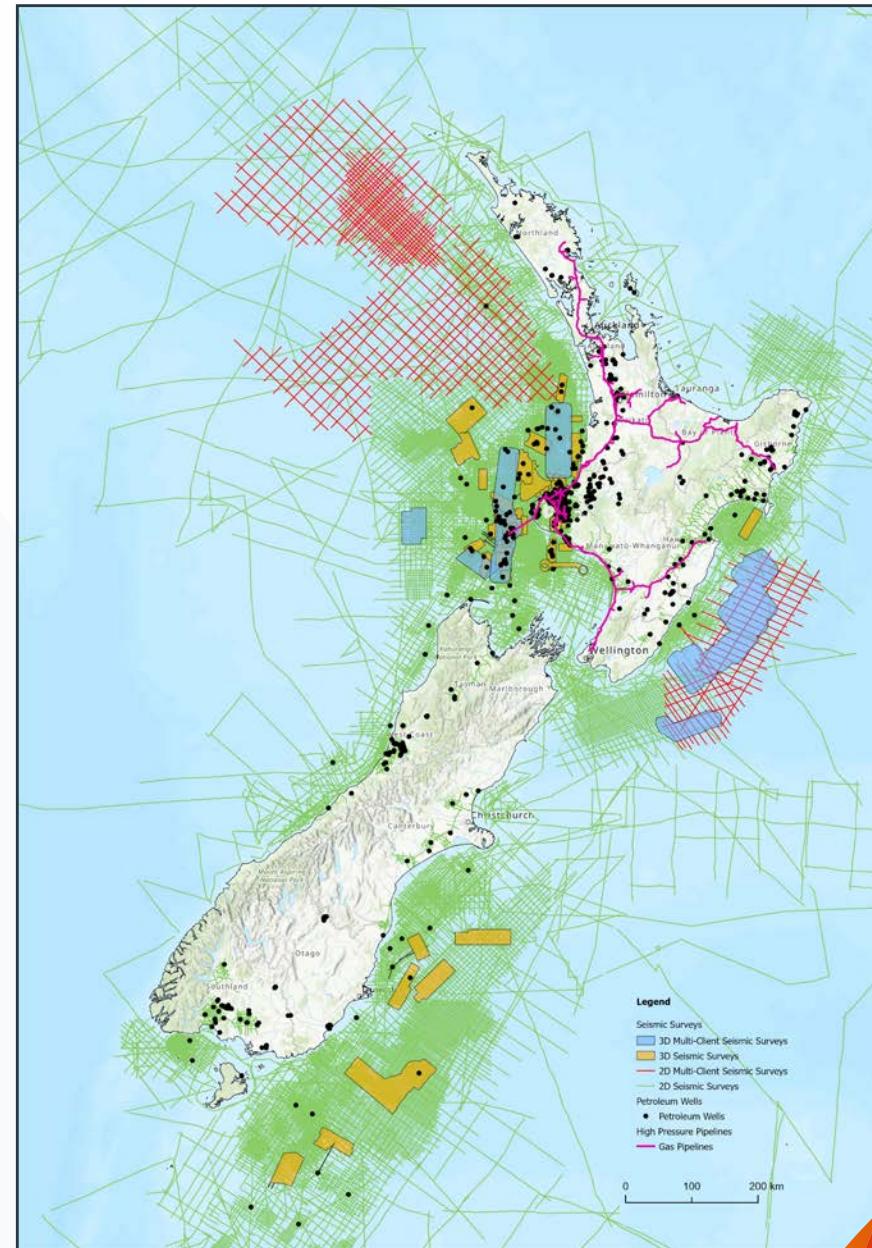

This comprehensive dataset includes exploration reports, seismic data (both processed SEGY files and raw field data), well data (such as well completion reports and digital well logs), as well as physical samples including drill cores and cuttings.

This pack includes publicly available seismic and well datasets that have been standardised integration into common seismic interpretation software. By streamlining data preparation, the Data Pack enables explorers to quickly and efficiently begin evaluating petroleum opportunities.

The Data Pack includes:

- › Ready to load seismic (SEGY) data.
- › Standardised and composited digital (LAS data) wireline logs for wells.
- › Kingdom seismic interpretation project.
- › Other technical reports and projects relevant to New Zealand petroleum prospectivity.

All files are free of charge.
